TUESDAY, JUNE 4, 1912.

An Evening Echo.

The supreme test of our devotion to any person or any cause is the test of sacrifice. What are we willing to give up? What are we willing to suffer for another or for the cause that we have espoused? The demands of our time, the demands of our life work may not be to lay down our lives for a friend, or parent to child, or soldier to country, of any man to a great cause, often is such that he freely lays down his life in behalf of the object of his devotion. The practical lesson is not in the application of the extreme test, but in living in the spirit of the Master with his attitude toward one's own life as related to other lives.—ROLFE COBLEIGH.

Mr. Chilton observes in his thousands of word ukase that Champ Clark is "equipped to hold any portfolio under the government and to run any of its departments," because, among other things, "he knows what the interests have been doing in Washington for the last sixteen years." The kind of Democracy that Chilton and his associates represent doubtless requires this peculiar qualification in all their candidates.

Dangerous Hand Shown Again.
Socialists in convention at Charleston nominated a man, who has been a resident of Wood county many years and who is still a resident of that county, for prosecuting attorney of Kanawha county. That goes to show that of that party ever gets the upper hand in Harrison county, there is danger of its running men in from other counties to run the affairs of this county, and it may be safely reasoned that if that party had the power it would run men in from Milwaukee or some other Socialist center to run this county. How do you like it, Harrison county voter?

Summer Heat and Adult Sickness.
In Europe during the summer of 1911 the excessive heat was observed by De Fleury to have had a pronounced effect. Not only was there increase in sickness during the hot period, but after its subsidence many persons developed gastro-intestinal disturbances, congestion of the liver or some skin affection of digestive origin.

In attempting to account for the effects of the hot weather De Fleury says that the abuse of cooling drinks with food, the tendency of foods to spoil and the increasing virulence of disease germs were important factors, but he believes that the most important factor was the diversion of the water in the body from the kidneys to the skin, with increased excretion of water, with lowering of blood-pressure, but with decreased elimination of poisons. The sweat-excreting apparatus of the skin is equal to only about a fourth of the filtering apparatus of the kidneys and during the hot weather fluids are excreted by the skin almost entirely.

It was De Fleury's observation that persons who lived on a fruit and vegetable diet, to the exclusion of meat and eggs, escaped gastro-intestinal disturbances. Hot drinks also acted in a prophylactic way, as did the employment of the lactic ferments. Drugs which increase the blood-pressure and stimulate the kidneys, function also had beneficial effects.

The observations of De Fleury, according to The Journal of the American Medical Association, would seem to confirm the dictum that in hot weather it is desirable to decrease the amount of protein food intake, to limit the diet more closely to fruits and vegetables and to drink plenty of plain water or other bland drinks while the stomach is empty in order, if possible, to increase elimination by the kidneys. The frequency of congestion of the liver would seem also to support the theory of a deficient elimination of poisons as an important cause of the morbidity due to the heat.

Give Modern Conveniences.

A very important effect of improved roads on a rural community is that they will make possible at all times of the year social intercourse among neighbors and between country and town. It will be possible for neighbors to visit each other at any time without driving or walking through the mud. This will be one of the strongest factors toward keeping the young people on the farm, and we will not have so many of our boys and girls rushing to towns and cities to accept positions at small wages, in stores and mills, preferring more or less lordship in town rather than the isolation of the farm. Notice for instance how many of our city people are buying up property in the country where these are connected by improved roads with the city, preferring the country life, though they can easily and quickly reach the city.

At the present time it is possible for any country place to have all the modern conveniences that can be found in any city home, and at no more expense than these same comforts cost in the city, yet, if the country home is supplied with all these but is separated from five to ten miles from the city by bad roads, these other modern improvements count for but little. It is the isolation that the young people are objecting to and not the work or the life on the farm itself.

The old method of obtaining revenue for the construction of roads was by levying a labor tax, which required all able-bodied, male residents of a state, between certain ages, to work on the public highways within their respective townships for a certain number of days per annum; but in lieu of this labor they could pay a certain amount for each day that they were required to work. While thousands of miles of public roads have been built by this means, here are but few miles of graded or improved roads constructed, and it is practically impossible to construct a system of good roads in this way. If this does not give good improved roads how can they be obtained?

Instructed at Last.

Democrats of West Virginia, "simon pure," "fractured" and otherwise may now heave their long pent-up sigh of relief, this having been royally and regularly permitted by their Big Boss, William E. Chilton, of Charleston, as spokesman for the High and Mighty Senatorial Combine, owner, president, dictator, mortgagee, censor and editor-in-chief of the Democratic party of the state. The Big Boss, with the undoubted sanction of his coadjutor, the Other Big Boss, has issued an imperial ukase in which the rank and file of the party are commanded—indirectly, but none the less commanded—to support the candidacy of Champ Clark for the Democratic nomination for president of the United States. The mandate is in the form of a thousand word editorial, which the Big Boss has just caused to be sent from the executive offices of the Democratic party of West Virginia in Washington to the Combine's mouthpiece and official organ, the Charleston Gazette.

The royal order is a formal reply to an editorial for Wilson in the New York World, in which that paper stated that Wilson was the logical man to oppose Roosevelt if the latter should be nominated. Chilton waxes sarcastic at the Wilson candidacy and describes the New Jersey executive as "contributing school teachers essays to a political situation which sink into insignificance when compared to practical views of Clark."

On virtue of what Senator Chilton told him, Dubois, Clark manager, has declared that "West Virginia is ours solidly. We will have every delegate from that state."

Why, to be sure! Of course "West

Virginia is ours solidly." Has not the party been bought, cornered, intimidated and elbowed into submission by the Combine? That is not a matter of news, as Senator George W. Bland has been stating all along for many moons that such was the situation and so far as the Telegram is aware, nothing of importance has developed to refute any of Mr. Bland's assertions. Indeed, the autocratic manner in which Democratic delegates have been caused to be "uninstructed" is sufficiently suspicious, aside from the "undesirable" publicity that has been given by Mr. Bland's newspaper, the West Union Record.

The real meat of the mass, while it may not be actual news to many Democrats, is that the Combine has formally and officially enlisted itself in the Clark campaign. This means that the henchmen of the Combine who have been appointed—beg pardon, appointed—delegates to the various conventions that will send representatives of the Combine to the Baltimore convention, are finally "instructed" to vote for Mr. Clark. Hence, the occasion for the sigh of relief for which these men have for many days been anxious.

Why should the Combine come out for Clark? Ah! That is no secret, as it has been told in a news dispatch from Washington, as follows:

"It is no secret in Washington that virtually all 'big interests' in the Democratic party have lined up behind the Clark candidacy in an effort to beat Wilson. The annexing of Texas, Minnesota, New Jersey, and the large Wilson vote of Ohio has had the effect of a boomerang in the local Clark camp and the speaker's manager counts on West Virginia's insubordination for him this week to offset the effect of the recent Wilson victory."

NEWS NOTES OF BRISTOL TOWN

Interesting Budget is Compiled by Telegram's Correspondent There.

BRISTOL, June 4.—Ole Michael, of Little Rock Camp, was seriously injured a few days ago at a drilling well on the Thomas Morris farm on Grass run. After reading a meter for the Hope Natural Gas Company, Mr. Michael went to the well and was talking to the driller when a board fell from the top of the derrick and hit him on the nose, mashing it. Medical attention was given him as quickly as possible, though not in time to stop the flow of blood, which weakened him considerably. He is getting along as well as could be expected.

Hiram D. Lynch was a business visitor in Clarksburg recently. Howard Jones was a business caller in Salem a few days ago from Indian run.

Luther Barnes recently purchased a very fine Registered Jersey bull from Ohio. It is of the St. Lambert stock.

Lloyd Harbert and Harold Swiger, of Big Rock Camp, were on Indian run recently on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ash and children, of Cherry Camp run, and Mrs. Sherman Law, of Bristol, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Donnelly Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marshall and children were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Donnelly a few days ago.

Miss Ruby Hickman, daughter of Wm. Hickman, of Salem, visited friends and relatives on Indian run a few days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hickman and children were visiting at Hill Garden farm Sunday.

Tyde Lyons, of Salem, returned recently with three pair of fine draft horses from Cincinnati, O.

M. L. Campbell, superintendent for the Philadelphia Gas Company, returned to his home in Salem recently after a month's scouting for the Philadelphia Gas Company through eastern states.

Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Fittro, of Salem, recently went to Philadelphia to attend the convention of railway surgeons. From there they will go to Atlantic City to attend the convention of the American Medical Association.

Mrs. Bertha Fite, of Cherry Camp run, was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram D. Lynch, recently. Quarterly meeting services were held at the Methodist Episcopal church on Indian run Saturday evening and Sunday morning. The services were conducted by the Rev. John T. Hickman, of West Union.

Lloyd W. Shahan, of Flindersburg, was a recent Salem visitor on business.

Dr. Jesse F. William, of Clarksburg, attended quarterly meeting on Indian run Sunday.

Miss Ida Canthorn, of Salem, visited her sister, Mrs. Mary Porter, Sunday. Hiram D. Lynch attended to business matters in Salem a few days ago.

While working on a drilling well near Jane Lew, George McGregor had the misfortune to let a piece of pipe fall on his foot, which nearly mashed it. He expects to go back to work sometime this week.

John Wesley Williams, a prominent stockman and farmer of Marshville, was a Salem visitor a few days ago.

IOWA WOMAN WELL AGAIN

Freed From Shooting Pains, Spinal Weakness, Dizziness, by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Ottumwa, Iowa: "For years I was almost a constant sufferer from female trouble in all its dreadful forms; shooting pains all over my body, sick headache, spinal weakness, dizziness, depression, and everything that was horrid. I tried many doctors in different parts of the United States, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than all the doctors. I feel it my duty to tell you these facts. My heart is full of gratitude to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my health."—MRS. HARRIET E. WAMPLER, 624 S. Ransom Street, Ottumwa, Iowa.

Consider Well This Advice.
No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for nearly forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.
